Laura,

This was discussed at the Management Meeting on Saturday and our committee would be very much obliged if you could draft a letter to DCC asking for a response as soon as possible. They also really liked your idea of asking for an extension on the funding so it would be good if that could be included. Thank you.

Regards,
Irene.

Irene,

I can see no harm in asking the Council whether they are in a position to respond to our letter of 19 February - particularly given that they threatened to withdraw your funding on 31st March, which is now less than three weeks away. If you would rather not contact them, we can send a letter on your behalf.

However, I understand (from Arlene) that DCC's funding is not absolutely crucial to Eighteen And Under, as it does not make up a large proportion of the total contributions you receive. If that is the case, you may prefer to let sleeping dogs lie for the time being?

It really depends how strongly you feel about losing their funding or getting a response. If you are keen to ensure that the funding is not withdrawn, I think we would be entitled to expect an extension of time in relation to their proposed 'deadline' of 31st March, given that we have heard nothing from them in three weeks.

If you decide that you want to contact DCC after discussing it with the other managers, and you do require our assistance, please let me know.

Regards,

Laura

Laura,

We have a management meeting this Saturday morning and I know they are going to ask how long we should wait for a reply to your letter. Can you give me some idea of what to tell them.

We have discovered that we were right about the young person being pulled for the HMIE audit which is currently taking place. This audit finishes at the end of next week and we think DCC are trying to hold back replying until it's done and dusted.

If you could give us some direction it would be a big help. Thanks.

Regards,
Irene.

Irene,

I hope you are well. I just wanted to let you know that we have heard nothing from Dundee City Council since the meeting on 20th February was cancelled. Perhaps their own legal department are still considering matters! I will be in touch with you again as soon as I hear further from the Council but, in the meantime, if I can assist with anything else please let me know.

Kind regards,

Laura
