Irene/Laurie,

The letter to Peter Allan has been faxed this morning, and hard copies will be posted to Peter Allan and Alex Stephen this afternoon. I am about to send you a note of my firm's fee for the work carried out on this matter between 18th and 25th February. The fee is in the sum of £800 plus VAT, the majority of which relates to Arlene's time in preparing for and attending the meeting with you on 18th February and sending the first letter to Peter Allan. I trust that this is acceptable, but if you have any queries please let me know.

It is our normal practice to issue fee notes at the end of each month. However, in accordance with Law Society guidelines we cannot issue any fees for a new client until we have completed our money laundering checks: these were only recently completed for Eighteen And Under, which is the reason for the delay in issuing the February fee. I intend to send out another fee in the next few days for the work carried out in March, which should bring us up to speed. Again, if this will cause any problems please let me know.

Regards,

Laura
