Irene,

I have managed to have a quick look and provide some comments. I think it is best to keep EAU's comments separate to the notes of the meeting - for example through using "comment boxes" similar to those I have used. That way the comments are clearly made and the record of the meeting also remains intact. I suggest that you remove the names of the individuals in relationships and have suggested wording that you might place in an accompanying comment as to why this was done.

I have only reviewed briefly and note that a further sense-check should be carried out by EAU to ensure that the meeting note as a whole reads coherently.

I hope this assists.

Kind regards and have a good weekend.

Robin
